Lisa Hurst Dance Cookie Policy

What are cookies?

A cookie is a short amount of data that is sent to your browser by a Web server and can only be read back by the server that sent it to you.

Cookies are created when you use your browser to visit a website that uses cookies. Websites can use cookies to keep track of your movements within the site, for security purposes, remember your registered login, to track your bookings, log your IP address or record other information about you. In some instances cookies are used for analytical purposes.

As stated on the allaboutcookies.org website: "Cookies usually don't contain much information except for the url of the website that created the cookie, the duration of the cookie's abilities and effects, and a random number. Due to the little amount of information a cookie contains, it usually cannot be used to reveal your identity or personally identifying information. However, marketing is becoming increasingly sophisticated and cookies in some cases can be agressively used to create a profile of your surfing habits."

Types of cookies

There are two types of cookies used:

Session (Transient) cookies: These cookies are erased when you close your browser, and do not collect information from your computer. They typically store information in the form of a session identification that does not personally identify the user.

Persistent (Permanent/Stored) cookies: These cookies are stored on your hard drive until they expire (i.e based on a set expiration date) or until you delete them. These cookies are used to collect identifying information about the user, such as Web surfing behaviour or user preferences for a specific site.
